

Name: John Butts

Submission ID: 14

IT would be a very bad move too give control of internet to Global Multistakeholder Community. It should be very apparent they are not mature enough too handle the internet. with all the in fighting between them and games of playground vintage. not being honest with them self's or the world. surely you can do better than giving control too kindergarden.