Regarding the future of the IANA functions, I have closely followed and provided feedback to the Number Community's proposal and am satisfied that this part of the proposal:

- has solicited and has received wide input from the global multi-stakeholder community and that it reflects community consensus.

- fulfils the criteria established by the NTIA's IANA stewardship transition process

- provides a complete, appropriate, balanced and reasonable administration mechanism which acts in the interests of the global multi-stakeholder community.

- maintains the openness of the Internet because of its inclusive input mechanism and commitment to maintaining this in future.

- maintains the security, stability, and resiliency of the IANA numbers function.

I also support the CRISP response to the combined ICG proposal and would like to thank the ICG and CRISP teams for their hard work and dedication.

I would like to show my support on the IANA Stewardship Transition Proposal by agreeing with and supporting Nicks observations above and would also like to thank the CRISP team for their hard work.

Best regards,

Bijal Sanghani
